

Abstract

This invention provides an industrially advantageous process for preparing a composition containing urea and salicylic acid in a water-washable ointment of a non-5 aqueous emulsion type that exfoliates and moisturizes skin.